INTRODUCTION

Mgnrega is the world biggest program initiated by India with budget outlet of 55,000 Crores according to financial of year of 2018-19 and provides the 100 days of work in all those parts of the country where before their implementation the people belongs from the locality was totally out of works. In this way, Mgnrega provides the employment of 100 days to achieve the sustainable goal in the form of poverty alleviation, reduce distress migration and as well as employment generation which is set out by the United Nation.

Because, India is mainly an agricultural country in which the strength of rural unskilled labors is very high and majority of the rural poor depends mainly on the wages they earn through unskilled, casual, and manual labour. Its two third population is inhabitant in rural areas of which 28.3 per cent lives below the poverty line [1] and 58 per cent population primarily based on agriculture which is providing the means of livelihoods in rural areas and shared the 17.23 per cent of the India's GDP (Gross Domestic Product), the measures of Human Development Index (HDI)[1].

After the Independence, India gave the considerable amount of attention towards the rural electrification, connectivity, accessibility, transferability and rural reconstruction by formulating the various strategies, plans and programs. The emergence of Planning Commission in 1950s was the statutory initiative which gave a pioneer work in this direction for the development of rural areas and economic viability aimed as poverty reduction, employment generation and infrastructure development [2].

From the above aims and objectives, besides the agricultural development, the Government of India has launched various schemes and programs to meet the need of rural development, such as, Community Development Program (CDP; 1952), Integrated Rural Development Program (IRDP; 1967-77), Marginal Farmer and Agricultural Labour Program (MFAL; 1969-70), National Social Assistance Program (NSAP; 1998) Antyodaya Anna Yojana (AAY; 2000), Sarva Siksha Abhiyan (SSA; 2000), Sampoorna Grameen Rozgar Yojana (SGRY; 2001) Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY; 2004), , and National Rural Health Mission (NRHM; 2005) and so on, but all the above mentioned programs is, however, have some deficiency in their enactment, enforcement and implementation caused by faulty measures, improper running, involvement of contractor and false muster roll etc. therefore, all these programs are not able to get the objectives set by the authorities [3].

To overcome these deficiencies and problems the Government of India has launched the National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (NREGA) a flagship program in 2005 by merging with Swarna Jayanti Gram Rozgar Yojana (SJGRY) and National Food for Work (NFW) for poverty reduction, employment generation and livelihood security across the country for casual, marginalized and vulnerable class of people who lived in rural areas to achieve the livelihood and makes rural life more or less similar to urban character and their sustainable development [4].

Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) is a flagship legislation of the country that endeavors to uplift the lives of the poorest section of society living in rural areas with social and economic vulnerability. The Act seeks at augmenting livelihood security of rural households of the country by providing minimum 100 days of guaranteed wage employment in a financial year to every rural household whose adult members aged above 18 years are voluntarily seek to do unskilled manual work. The MGNREGA has emerged as world's largest employment programs and is very distinct from other wage employment programs, in its size, right based design and demand driven approach. MGNREGA has become dominant tool for endorsing inclusive growth through guaranteeing on social safeguard, livelihood security and democratic empowerment in rural India [4],[5].

STUDY AREA

Azamgarh is one of the eastern districts of Uttar Pradesh. The latitudinal and longitudinal extension of district lies between the 25° 38' north to 26° 27' north latitude and 82° 40' east to 83° 52' east longitude [6] [7]. The study area like Azamgarh is economically backward where the level of development is not as good as compare to the other districts of the eastern up. The district has no permanent business to provide the livelihood condition as compare to nearby district of Mau that has a permanent power loom industry which provides a good amount of work for their people. Therefore, the large number of people is migrating to abroad basically in Gulf countries to earn the good amount of money and send to their family to sustain the livelihood. As a result of this, the implementation of MGNREGA in Azamgarh district is some extent to provide the 100 days of job for the rural people to sustain their livelihood.

METHODS

The study has concerned with the selection of sample district. As for as the methodology is concerned with the help of simple random sampling the district has been selected which consists of 22 community development blocks, 1,870-gram panchayats and 4,133 villages for which the scheme has implemented. But the whole district has been coming under the main sampling in which the major emphasis has given to SC and ST population (BPL) which constitutes about 25.4 per cent and 0.2 per cent respectively. The collected data has summarized into table and then figured out with the help of MS excel software. Besides this, the mathematical techniques such as percentage and average were also applied to finalize the data.

Database

The present study is primarily based on secondary sources of data which are collected from the national website www.nrega.nic.in, state website www.nrega.up.gov, district website and district Vikash Bhawan. ### Job Cards Issued Under Mgnrega in the District

A Job Cars is an entitlement card issued to rural household whose adult member demand employment under the Mgnrega and shown willingness to do casual manual labour. The job cardshave issued to the workers within fifteen days ofapplication in written form after the proper verification of applicants by block and panchayat offices. Table 3. depicts the cast wise issued of job cards under the scheme in Azamgarh. As for as the table3. is concerned, there are total 4,05,900 job cards have been issued in financial year 2018-19, out of which the highest number of 2,50,700 job cards have issued for other cast rather than SC, ST and BPL which are the needy beneficiaries in the district. The people who belongs from the ST caste have received a very low number of 843 job cards under the scheme caused by their substantial decrease of population.

Whereas, the number of workers belongs to SC category is constituted about 2,50,700 job cards have issued followed by BPL category of workers have issued about 17,645 job cards under the scheme in

Thus, the table and fig shows the flexible pattern of job cards issued by the workers at different caste where the lowest percentage of 0.21 per cent of ST workers is only because, the category of general workers group who have not eligible for the work under the scheme are still getting payment through fake cards issued by village Pradhan who has the authority to do so at their own way.

As per the act of Mgnrega every households has provided 100 days of employment whose adult members have aged above 18 years and are willing to do unskilled manual casual labour in every financial year since 2016; but Congress in its manifesto released on Tuesday promised 150 days of guaranteed work under Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) a far away from the actual numbers on ground which do not even meet the current threshold of 100 days of employment.

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

The whole study is concerned that, Mgnrega is the flagship program initiated by the Ministry of Rural Development, Government of India aimed as poverty eradication, employment generation, reduce distress migration from rural areas and provides rural livelihood in India as well as in Azamgarh district; the act provided the 100 days employment for every household whose adult members are volunteer to unskilled manual and casual labour. From the above discussion it can be envisages that the nature and status of Mgnrega in Azamgarh district is showing the very flexible way in terms of expenditure, job cards issued, projects provided under the scheme, household provided employment and person-days generated across the district. The level of expenditure is mainly concentrated for labour who are available for works, showing the positive think of scheme. The number of job cards issued to beneficiaries is not much better because the highest job cards have issued to other category of workers owing to which the beneficiaries like SC, ST and BPL categories workers are not able to get required number of job cards.

Household provided employment and person-days generated under the scheme are also in the favor of category of other workers caused by fraud, faulty measures and issued of fake job cards, consequently, the beneficiaries are far from the benefit and facilities of scheme basically provided for them, therefore, it is clear from the above discussion that, the nature and status of Mgnrega in Azamgarh is lagging behind.

In the eyes of above context, government should be need to(1)improve the implementation pattern of Mgnrega in the district; (2)provides the transparency and accountability to the beneficiaries whenever, they want to know information about their work; (3)eliminate the involvement of contractors, who are misleading the scheme and open the window of employment for the other caste of workers rather than SC, ST and BPL; (4)provides the maximum number of works to SC, ST and BPL category of workers; (5)enhance the awareness amongst the rural people through public hording, radio, newspaper and television in rural areas. Thus, all the suggestion has been demarcating the future orientation of the research that will be done the other researchers by going through this literature work. And government has intended to take their interest with their best regards for the complete implementation of the scheme, whatever, left out in the former implementation pattern.
